No Monument for Him.
Wives and Prohibition.
Labor Creates Lords.

D. PAUL A. LEWIS, pathologist and bacteriologist at the Rockefeller Institute, is dead of yellow fever in Brazil.

He went there to find a better cure for the disease that killed him, studying yellow fever in men and monkeys, at Bahia.

Dr. Lewis will have no monument, only a few lines on some gravestones that will soon sink into the ground.

It would be a pity to believe that there is no reward hereafter for a man so poorly appreciated on earth.

Mrs. Sabia, wife of a well-known banker, will investigate prohibition among wives at workmen throughout the nation.

This "survey" will ask the wives their opinion of prohibition.

Those whose husbands used to drink whiskey and can't afford to now will say they favor prohibition.

If their husbands still drink whiskey, paying bootleggers' prices, they will be against prohibition.

Wives whose husbands used to drink beer or light wine and drink whiskey now, because they can't get beer or wine, will be against prohibition.

Left to a popular vote, prohibition would win in the nation at large, and lose in the big cities.

The British Labor party plans to strengthen itself by creating 13 new "Labor peers" to represent labor in the House of Lords.

Elizabeth, labor, intelligent, knows the value of titles.

The new lords of the realm will not, however, be promoted coal miners or locomotive engineers.

Labor will pick out men rich, well educated, with well-known leading "Socialism."

In New York city there were about 15,000 cloak makers at work and 15,000 out of work.

The 15,000 with jobs have gone on strike and now 30,000 are idle.

It is a pity that labor has not found a better way.

The East Indian sometimes lies on a bed of sharp spikes, believing that so doing will help him to attain Nirvana, his idea of heaven.

Intelligent union labor should not have to sit on the sharp spikes of idleness and want to achieve its end.

Next week you will get the new money, which was smaller than the old size.

The government will save millions in paper and ink.

Some citizens will feel that a small dollar isn't quite as good as a big dollar.

When the calendar was corrected, and the date pushed several days ahead, there was rioting by those who thought their lives had been made shorter by the same number of days.

We have progressed beyond that stage.

Wall Street insisted on being cheerful yesterday, in spite of 10 per cent money.

The bulls had their way. It is hard to discourage speculation.

Perhaps the Federal reserve will promote 35 or 30 per cent money. There must be some interest rate that would make the little lamb think and hesitate.

British and German motion picture concerns have signed papers for a $300,000,000 combination against the United States movie industry.

British and German automobile makers might as well arrange a combination against American automobile makers. It would do no good.

U.S. STANDS PAT ON WAR DEBT

French Reservations Would Not Be Acceptable as Basis of Settlement

Washington, July 3 (INS)—The American government will accept no reservations to France's ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement—at least, no reservations that make French payments to the United States contingent upon Germany's reparations payments to France.

Administration officials were positive on this point today when expressing gratification at the belief among the French that the American government is taking to obtain parliamentary approval of the three-year-old pact.

The expectation now is that France will ratify the agreement before August 1 and thus escape having to pay $400,000,000 in cash on that date for surplus A. E. F. stocks.

The new French debt, under the general debt accord, is merged into the greater war debt of some $4,000,000,000, payable over 62 years at very low interest.

It is a pity that labor has not found a better way.

Old Orchard, Me., July 3 (AP)—Lewis A. Yancy, navigator of the Pathfinder, said today that a take-off for Rome could not be made before the end of the week, because of the replacement of rocker arms on the motor. He said he hoped to bring the plane to Old Orchard from the Seaboard airport this afternoon.

THE INTERMEDIATE DEMANDS

Defendants Say They Are Forced Out of Business by Unfair Dealing

Washington, July 3 (Universal Service)—William Randolph Hearst stands commended for his editorial condemning monopolistic combinations in the motion picture industry, published in the Hearst newspapers last Sunday.

Approval of the editorial was unanimously voted yesterday at the conference of individual theatre owners, who declared they are being forced out of business by "high film rentals and unfair trade practices."

The following telegram was sent to Mr. Hearst:

"Motion picture theatre owners representing 15 states, meeting under auspices Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, today voted unanimous approval of your editorial in Washington Post and Times entitled 'What Is the Administration Going to Do About This?'"

"Testimony at this meeting showed that independent exhibitors are being forced out of business by the hundreds."

"The following leader commend you for your editorial calling for the destruction of the monopoly and urge that you continue your efforts to the end that unlawful practices in the motion picture industry be stamped out in the motion picture industry."

"Senator King (D.) of Utah, in a letter to the meeting, declared that 'Congress should promptly enact measures that will preserve the principle of competition in the motion picture industry.'"

"Upon various occasions I have called the attention of the Department of Justice to practices of various producers which I believe were in violation of the Sherman law and the Clayton act."

"I believe that there was a determination upon the part of certain organizations to destroy the independent producer and to establish the entire motion picture field."

"It would be little less than a calamity for the moving picture industry if it should be monopolized."

"Unfortunately greedy and grasping individuals have endeavored to seek to monopolize substantially all ends of production and human endeavor. Giant corporations are being organized, and mergers and consolidations in the field of industry are being formed in order that monopolies may be set in our industrial and economic life."

"In my opinion, the anti-trust laws now upon the statute books, if vigorously enforced, would afford substantial protection to the independent producers."

PERFECTS FLYING TACKLE

By JACK CONWAY

STRANGLER LEWIS looked the part of a great wrestler as he battled Martin Piestina, George McLeod, Abe Kaplan and Al Thomas in strenuous training bouts at his camp at the Revere Cycle Track.

Lewis is getting ready for his title conflict with Gus Sonnenberg which will be staged at Fenway park on next Tuesday night under the direction of Paul Bowser.

Lewis lost the heavyweight championship to Sonnenberg at the Boston Garden last January. He is confident he will regain his lost laurels in the ball park match.

The Strangler has been as strenuous at Revere for two weeks. He has been working out daily and is in the best condition of his career.

This writer watched Lewis go through 15-minute workouts with Piestina, McLeod, Kaplan and Thomas. He was faster than ever, while he brought the speed to his feet as he clamped on headlocks, armlocks and other crushing holds in rapid succession.

Lewis did not appear to have any trouble handling any of his sparring partners. Even Piestina and McLeod, two of the world's leading heavyweights, were treated rather roughly by the former champion.

"There is no doubt in my mind but that I shall win back my title as heavyweight champion," Lewis declared after his workout. "I have treated none the same for Tuesday night's contest as I did for my winning sparring match with Joe Stecher. I shall go to the ring with a new and get down to serious training with Piestina starting Monday night."

"I weigh 250 pounds, and do not carry an extra ounce," Lewis declared. "I have treated none the same for Tuesday night's contest as I did for my winning sparring match with Joe Stecher. I shall go to the ring with a new and get down to serious training with Piestina starting Monday night."

Paul Bowser has been notified that a member of the Illinois Athletic Commission will arrive here Saturday and watch the wrestling in their final training. The Illinois Commission was the first to war against Sonnenberg. It helped to force the champion to meet Lewis again.

Jimmy London has refused Bowser's offer to tackle Koloff, Piestina or Wladimir Zvezdov in the semi-final. He insists he is shooting for Sonnenberg whom he says he is willing to pay $5000 if he can last 30 minutes.

It looks as though Sonnenberg would have another good money bout with London if he is successful in defeating Lewis.

It is expected that the largest crowd to ever see a wrestling bout in the United States will be on hand when Sonnenberg and Lewis meet in action at Fenway Park. Paul Bowser says the advance sale has topped $25,000 and that the gate will go between $100,000 and $150,000.

"DON'T YOU JUST LOVE SKIFFS?" asked everybody who saw the new bumper, which had the words "DON'T YOU JUST LOVE SKIFFS?" on it. The bumper was a "best seller" every bumper sticker in the country. It was the most popular bumper sticker in the country.

What Has Gone Before
Nancy Hollenbeck, young, vibrant and beautiful, reluctantly drops her latest beau, Mai Tully, when her mother warns her against marrying a "poor man" as she did. "At the rich Orlogs house party Nancy receives the attentions of Jack Beamer, handsome sportsman, happily married, Nancy and Louise, her sister, with their rich Aunt Ellie, take a trip to Yosemite, a ranger, The Porters, rich but dull relatives, arrive Nancy, with them on a mountain trip, meets Roger. The Porters are not pleased. Nancy and Roger take long rides over the mountain trails.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER II
NANCY put on her prettiest dress, the turquoise organdy she had worn that night with Jack on the river. No one dressed for dinner here in camp, but she didn't think she was suddenly tired of riding breeches and mannish skirts.

She was suddenly tired of riding breeches and mannish skirts. She was suddenly tired of riding breeches and mannish skirts. She was suddenly tired of riding breeches and mannish skirts.

They were already dressed, Ellie in a bright blue crepe de chine that took every vestige of color out of her light blue eyes, leaving her a staring milk white. Gladys was hunched and frowled in pink.

"Nancy's going to break up with me, we should, too," Ellie looked seriously at her sister. "Why should we? What is there in it for us? What is there in it for us? What is there in it for us?"

"Gladys demanded. "Just for fun?" Nancy laughed. But the Porters were not to be trifled with. They were not to be trifled with. They were not to be trifled with.

"But what's the matter with you?" Nancy murmured, passing the baked beef. "But what's the matter with you?"

THE QUESTION

Do you think the Fourth of July will be celebrated without fireworks?

WILLIAM A. POLLEY, Lancaster was shooting off a lot of fireworks to observe the Fourth of July. Found in a patrol was caused much trouble and the deaths of men, women and children. There were many other ways in which people could be celebrating the country's birthday. There were many other ways in which people could be celebrating the country's birthday.

New York, July 3 (INS)—After years of laborious, beautiful suffering, Miss Walker, a film beauty, today won her plea for support from her husband, Charles E. Walker, in a suit filed in the New York court today.

During the last of her husband's desertion, she lived on $10 a week allowance, and for years she was a destitute and sick woman. She was a film beauty, and her husband was a film actor. THINK STRAIGHT OR YOU'LL END UP IN JAIL

San Francisco, July 3.—Prison bars, convict stripes, the deafening clank of the lock that shuts out liberty and admits misery, sudden bursts of confusion, the tell-tale prison pallor.

As a summary of his ideas on crime, crime prevention and prison reform, Black read the letter William Randolph Hearst wrote July 20 to the American Study Commission.

Black then brought out the following paragraph with almost a gasp of surprise.

"It is the duty, and indeed the advantage of a reputable American citizen, who has the power and numbers to control circumstances, to see that the very worst of the criminal classes are made good citizens out of them and not criminals."

Black said that persons who do not learn to think fairly straightly, sooner or later land in jail. The man was a film actor, and his habit was shattering.

Dislike for Near Beer Closes Noted Brewery

New York, July 3 (INS). The unpopularity of near-beer in the city of thousands of "speakeasies" will result in the closing on August 1 of the famous Hell Gate Brewery, founded in 1865 by the late George Heintz.

Today, in the so-called good old days of the Heintz plant, which occupies one and one-half square blocks, produced more than 1,200,000 barrels of beer annually and employed more than 800 men. Last year only 100,000 barrels of the "kickless" near-beer were sold and the last of employees dwindled to 125.

The substantial sum of $400,000 offered for the brewery by a corporation in 1912 was turned down when business was brisk. Since prohibition, the beer has been carrying on in the hope that the late George Heintz's idea that the Eighteenth Amendment would be modified, permitting the manufacture of real beer again, would materialize.

With the emphasis that can be imparted only by dog conviction, Black made this paragraph stand out from the letter:

"The qualities of courage and resourcefulness which make a successful criminal might, if properly directed and developed, make a successful honest man."

SLEUTHS GUARD NEWMARKET PLANT

22 Waite Agents Imported in Fear of Outbreak by Strikers

Newmarket, N. H., July 3.—Twenty-two agents of the Waite Manufacturing Company were imported today as deputy sheriffs here, and were on duty today about the grounds of the Newmarket Manufacturing Co. to forestall any violence on the part of strikers during the holiday.

It is understood the men were sent here at the request of the mill management as a result of rumors that an outbreak was planned by the strikers, either on the night before or on the holiday.

The Newmarket Manufacturing Company is losing $1000 a day as a result of the strike, declared a statement issued by the strike committee.

The statement, which refuted previous reports by the management that upward of 100 had returned to work, was given to the press by Mrs. Celia Bailey, secretary of the strike committee. Instead of the reported 120 who are claimed to be working in the mill, there are only 65, according to the statement.

The strikers held a meeting in Foresters Hall and protested against the importing of the extra officers, declaring that it was simply another example of outrageous waste of money by the management.

Judge Alvah H. Place of the municipal court granted a continuance of one month in the case of Albert St. Hilare Fred Landis and Fred Dabois, three former employees of the Newmarket Mfg. Co. who were to have been arraigned this Friday on charges of assault with intent to commit murder on two deputy sheriffs here on the evening of June 26. The continuance is at the request of County Solicitor Stewart R. Stone of Newmarket.

Deputy Sheriff John Ryan, at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston Sunday afternoon, declared that the condition of Ryan, who is 49 years of age, is still very serious.

HOW WILL THE STORY END? -:- By Beatrice Fairfax

Authority on Problems of Love Often Wonders

THE most thrilling love stories ever written cannot to my mind, compare in interest with these true stories of real life and love which come to me in letters from the readers of this column. For truth is always more thrilling than the cleverest fiction.

How will the story end? I sometimes wonder as I read the message of affectionate good wishes which I hope may give some clue to the solution of the problem. Will the man who has overcome all difficulties and find happiness in matrimony? Or will he, like all, lead them in opposite directions?

Here is a letter suggesting a second chapter, but not the final conclusion, of a romance.
DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am, anyway? Maybe you will answer my question, for you have answered many more, besides this one.

"Is this love? Or is it infatuation?"
The letter from a girl dear enough to write you, telling of the many arguments he has had with the one he loves—some very foolish—and asks you whether he should make up with this girl. You advised that he should make up with her and try once more to make a success of the friendship. Well, he did—and the thing is still hanging in the balance, undecided as yet.

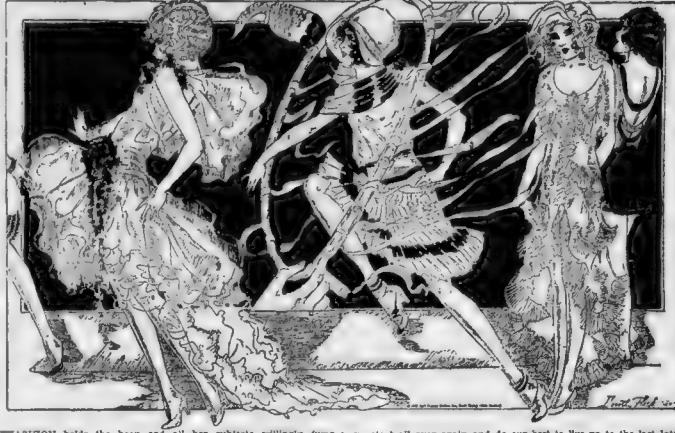

"This same girl he loves, either loves the boy as much, or more, than she writes you two months later and confesses her love for him, and also tells you how she can win the boy back—and in reality she never loved him. You thought she had when he failed to do her up any more."

"You did not know, of course, that the two letters had been sent to each other, yet you answered her as you answered me." We have tried, and still what have we nothing.

"I can't understand it, and neither can my friends. She is changed. As I am sorry for what has happened that she does not care to leave the house. Will you please direct her letter as soon as possible, for I will read your columns daily, and tell this girl as well as myself what the whole thing is about."

"I think it is time that I put her out of my mind. But her parents put me as much as they do."

Her parents, and this makes it

FRANÇOISE holds the hoop and all her subjects willingly jump through it as her slightest word. She controls young and old, fat and thin, rich and poor, queen and peasant. None dare refuse her mandates. She is absolute empress of the feminine world.

One day she decrees "long hair." The next it's all kinds of bobs. Long skirts, then short. Slim silhouettes, then the molded figure. It keeps one dizzy trying to do everything she says. But—when she holds the hoop, through we go! Sometimes we land in a heap. Then we start all over again and do our best to live up to the last letter of her peremptory demands.

She's the most fickle jade that was ever known. Sometimes we find ourselves saying, "Let her talk! I'm going to dress to suit myself!" But so soon as we get the words out of our mouths, she's there, protesting through the hoop we go, and there you are! But let me tell you a secret! Use your imagination and whatever is most becoming to your own particular type, wear it. Adapt it to her decrees, but let your own individuality shine forth. And that's the real secret of charm!

ORIGINAL SUIT BIDS OF TWO
Hands divide rapidly into two classifications as to trick probability. Those that require, in order to go game, better than average support by partner and those that require average or less support.

An original bid of one indicates a hand of the first class; a bid of more than one, of the second class. An original two bid of a suit in any position must show seven or more probable tricks, including at least 4-4 in quick tricks, distributed in at least three suits; or after a second suit is shown, in two strong biddable suits.

An original Major two bid shows not only game probability at the suit bid, but with average or less support by partner, but a suit of sufficient length and top strength to admit of an assist by partner (it is) with but three small cards of the suit. With but two small cards of suit, partner should take out (it is) rather than second an immediate assist.

An original Minor two bid (which may be made with seven probable tricks) does not necessarily show game probability with the average expectancy of three probable tricks in support, but does show game probability in support of a possible Major suit on 20 Trump take-out by partner; or game probability, should partner suit bidder's weak or misjudged suit, thus enabling a bidder himself to go to the top. The bid he would have made originally but for an unprobable trump.

With less than the minimum requirements, bidder should refrain from bidding two. The bid will, therefore, be generally based on more than the exact minimum, and frequently on a considerably more than the exact minimum, and as an imperative demand for an assist or a take-out unless partner's holding is completely lacking in either possibility.

BREATHING PROCESS

By LOUIS V. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D. Famous Authority on Health and Physiology.
EVERY time we breathe we take in oxygen and eliminate carbon dioxide. Oxygen is, of course, absolutely essential to life while carbon dioxide must be got rid of else the individual would die.

The marvelous machinery, by means of which this is accomplished, consists of the lungs and the trachea, or windpipe. The lungs are at the back of the mouth, leading to the lungs. Behind the lungs, one might add, lies the pharynx, the tube which leads into the esophagus and into the stomach. Sometimes the trachea is the windpipe, and the pharynx is the windpipe.

The lungs lead into the trachea, which is about four inches and a half in length. It is often spoken of as the "windpipe." Lower down, in the upper part of the trachea, the windpipe divides into two tubes or bronchi. These are known as the bronchial tubes. Inflammation of these is known as bronchitis.

The lungs themselves are divided into two parts or lobes. The right lobe is larger than the left and has three lobes. The left lobe has two lobes. The right lobe is larger than the left and has three lobes. The left lobe has two lobes. The right lobe is larger than the left and has three lobes. The left lobe has two lobes.

When we breathe about 12 times a minute but wide variations exist. When we take in air the lungs are not filled to capacity nor are they completely emptied when we breathe out.

The amount of air breathed in by an adult male is about 20 cubic inches. No matter what the temperature of the external air may be the inspired air is nearly as hot as the blood, namely about 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit.

FRUIT BEFORE MEALS

DO you sometimes feel, during these warm days, as if you simply could not eat a morsel of food, and that the calories prescribed by dietitians and doctors were just impossible, as was a suggestion that you eat your fruit before meals?

When you find your appetite coming back on you, when you haven't eaten much all day and you should be hungry, try beginning your meal with a fruit cocktail. The particularly citrus fruits such as grapefruit, orange and lemon, since these fruits help to cleanse the body of impurities and thus make for appetite. If possible have your cocktail made with lemon juice, as this fruit is very valuable in stimulating the system to a good appetite.

Here are a few cocktails, which, if served chilled, will help you eat the proper amount of food.

MELON AND PINEAPPLE COCKTAIL
Have one cup watermelon balls, one cantaloup ball and one cup diced pineapple well chilled, and arrange the fruit in glasses. Mix one-half cup pineapple syrup, one-half cup orange juice, two tablespoons lemon juice and sugar to taste, and pour over. Serve cold. Serves six.

AVOCADO AND GRAPEFRUIT COCKTAIL
Have one large eggplant, par very cold, cut in slices and serve with one number 2 can of grapefruit in each glass, and pour over juice from can and confectioner's sugar. Serve at once, as pear does not improve on standing.
